Title of the Practice: "Top Ten System"

Keywords :

Top ten, academic, performance, achievement, books,

Goals and Objectives

3. To recognise the top performing students.

4. To encourage furtherance of their achievements.

Context:

The institution needed to address the contextual features or challenging issues in designing and implementation of "Top Ten System" are as follows: The institute's student intake majorly comes from rural areas as Sankeshwar town is surrounded by several villages. The economic background of the students is average. They needed encouragements so that they can excel in their academic performances.

The practice:

Every year after the enrolment sheet of students is prepared, the top ten students are selected from B. Com I, B.Com II and B.Com III year batches by considering their previous academic performances. The Library Committee finalizes the Top Ten students' list for the academic year under the chairmanship of the Principal. When the semester classes commence, these recognised students are issued with a set of Books as per their preference. The students will refer the books until the semester end examinations are over and then submit back to the Library. The process will continue for next successive semester. Evidence of success :

The above elaborated practice enhanced the performance level of the students those are in the list of Top ten. The other students get motivated to enter the 'top ten' list in the upcoming academic year.

Problems encountered and resources required

Sometimes the library may not be in position to issue preferential title books to the students. This issue is managed by adding study resources as per the necessity. The required recourses for this practice are met by the institutions budget.

Notes:

The practice is unique. It instills morale in students.
